

COWARDLY ASSAULT

HEFFLIN OF ALABAMA SHOTS TO KILL.

Heflin, of Alabama, shot and seriously wounded a white and a colored man last Friday evening, March 27, while on his way to deliver a temperance lecture in the Metropolitan Church.

Two colored men were in an Avenue street car in which this Congressman and his friend were, when Heflin saw a colored man pull from his pocket a bottle containing liquor. These men, from the evidence, were doing nothing. There was no evidence of disorderly conduct whatever by either man. Becoming very much enraged at the sight of a colored man, as he (Heflin) stated, drinking whiskey from a bottle in the presence of a lady, Heflin ejected from the car the colored man, with whom he had a scrap, and struck him and at the same time shot him and seriously wounded a white man by the name of Thomas McCreary.

Heflin, after ejecting and striking the colored man, whose name is Lundy, he (Heflin) returned to the car and fired several shots through the window, which has been denounced as most cowardly.

Heflin claims that he had a permit from the judges of the Police Court to carry a gun. Both judges deny that either ever granted Heflin a permit.

Prosecuting Attorney James L. Pugh, Jr., stated last Monday that Heflin did have a permit, and it would have been better if the judges had not made that statement.

There is not much weight attached to the alleged anonymous letter claimed to have been received by Heflin.

Details of the Shooting

Although there have been several versions of the affair, it appears that Mr. Heflin, in company with Representative Edwin J. Ellerbe, of South Carolina, boarded an east-bound 14th Street car while in front of the Post-office Building, shortly after 7:30 last Friday evening. It was a two-car trolley train, and when Messrs. Heflin and Ellerbe took seats in the trailer there were four other passengers—two colored men, a lady and a white man. The colored men appeared to be intoxicated, and as the car proceeded they engaged in a discussion apparently concerning the division of a quantity of whiskey or gin which one of them had in a bottle. Mr. Heflin remonstrated with them as to drinking on the car and in the presence of a lady, and the men, after a little loud conversation, were apparently satisfied to let the matter drop.

At Sixth street Representative Ellerbe, who resides at the Metropolitan Hotel, left the car. Scarcely had the car started when the two men, evidently satisfied that they could overcome any objection, physical or otherwise, which one white man might interpose, again produced the bottle of liquor and started to drink it. They paid no attention to Mr. Heflin's remonstrance, and then the real trouble began.

Grabbing the man nearest him, Representative Heflin, who is large and powerful, ejected him from the car and followed suit with the second individual. The car was stopped, and both men returned to the attack. Representative Heflin says one of them, and he thinks it was Lundy, made a motion as though to draw a weapon, and to repel the attack he pointed his revolver out of the car window and fired twice. Both bullets, he says, were directed toward the ground, but at the second shot Lundy screamed, turned to run, and fell to the street. The first bullet glanced from the sidewalk and struck Thomas McCreary, who was standing in front of the St. James Hotel.

Policeman Scriven, who was standing at Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue, ran to the car and placed Mr. Heflin under arrest. At the same moment Representative Ellerbe, who had not remained the hotel, ran to the car and jumped aboard, and it was at his order that the car was started toward the Capitol.

Justifies His Action

"I was clearly justified in what I did," said Representative Heflin on the floor of the House Saturday morning in discussing the shooting with friends. "I have since learned that the Negro was a dangerous character with a bad court record."

Mr. Heflin today gave out copies of some of the threatening letters he said he had received following his proposal to provide for "Jim Crow" cars in the District, and which led him to secure permission to go armed.

Following is one of these letters: "Prepare to meet your God; go guarded night and day from now on until your death. Fear and tremble! There is not a step between you and death. Vile wretch, every person who fears God and loves justice is against you because you would add to the already unjustly oppressed. Go guarded and well armed. Patience has ceased to be a virtue. The South is the property of the colored man."

Here's part of another letter: "Let you and your friends some fine afternoon in a crowded car arise and give a bevy of colored ladies your seats, not forgetting to proclaim who you are, and if there should be any colored gent in the car he will follow your magnanimous example."

"Jim Crow" Amendment.

Mr. Heflin introduced his "Jim Crow" amendment to the Union Station Trackage bill and made a speech in support of the measure. On the next day, the 23d of February, he received the following letter:

"As assuredly as you attempt to interfere with the harmonious relations now existing between the races in the District of Columbia, as certainly will your life pay for the privilege."

"This is applicable to all Southern members likely to crave for glory and a halo. It is as easy to 'remove' an 'objectionable' of your stamp in this Capital as a grand duke in St. Petersburg."

"You will be warned no more. Remember, Caesar made light of the swords soon to be reeking with his blood, and an eye has been upon you all session in anticipation of such an outbreak."

NO NEGROES WANTED.

Bryan Orders That Negroes Be Excluded from His Meeting.

Charleston, W. Va.—Last Sunday night William Jennings Bryan lectured in this city on "The Prince of Peace," but no Negroes were admitted to any part of the Opera House, not even to the gallery. A squad of city police was stationed at the entrance with instructions not to admit any Negroes, and the statement was given out that neither Mr. Bryan nor the Democratic party desired the Negroes' attendance or support. Colored men of this city were thunderstruck. Never in the history of this city have they been so discriminated against. And to think that this is the man so many Negroes have been talking about supporting in case Secretary Taft should be nominated! The white Republican sentiment of West Virginia is decidedly for Taft, and since this Bryan incident the Negro sentiment is going to him also.

At least it may be depended upon that no Negro in West Virginia will vote for William Jennings Bryan. He and his party have served notice on us that we are not wanted.

GREAT UNION REVIVAL WILL CLOSE.

Last Sunday a large congregation greeted Dr. Simon P. W. Drew, pastor of the Cosmopolitan Temple Baptist Church, N street northwest between Ninth and Tenth streets, at both services. At the close Dr. Drew made an appeal to the unsaved, and fully twenty-five persons came forward for prayer and confessed Christ.

Next Sunday, April 5th, at 10:30 a.m., subject will be "The Well of Salvation;" at 12 m. baptizing; at 7:30 p.m., subject "Should All Christians be Baptized?" to be followed by the colobration of the Communion and the hand of fellowship extended to new members.

"Sunday, April 12th, at 10:30 a.m., subject "Life and Death;" at 7:30 p.m., subject "The Man with the World in His Hand."

What I Saw And Heard

I am satisfied that every citizen will be compelled to go armed if he wants protection.

I noticed that colored agitators are urging the colored voters to support the Democratic party.

The conduct of Heflin is very encouraging to colored voters throughout the country.

Benn Tilmann has about outlived his usefulness. He is going abroad for his health. Should he not return no one will grieve.

The consensus of opinion is that the Burt-Patterson ticket will be elected.

It is about time that a halt should be made on these oppressors of the colored people.

There was never a more brutal assault committed than the recent assault upon Lundy last week by Congressman Heflin. Popular sentiment is against Heflin, and it is believed that the District Attorney will prosecute the case with vigor.

Ex-Governor P. B. S. Pinchback is in the city and was entertained at Gray's last Tuesday evening by Hon. Ralph Tyler, Auditor for the Navy Department. The Governor says that Taft will be nominated and elected president of the United States.

The Burt-Patterson ticket is growing in strength.

GIFT TO TUSKEGEE.

New York, March 21. — Ninety wholesale dealers of the Second Internal Revenue District of New York City have just sent a check for nine hundred dollars to the Tuskegee Institute, as a volunteer contribution to the school, and in honor of Hon. Charles W. Anderson, Collector of the Second Internal Revenue District. These wholesale dealers have been led to show this token of respect to Collector Anderson because of the fact that he accepted checks from the dealers during the entire financial disturbance, and was perhaps the only Internal Revenue Collector in the whole country who did so.

The check for nine hundred dollars was accompanied by a strong letter of endorsement of the business qualities of Collector Anderson, and in entire approbation of his rare tact in handling the delicate situation which developed during the financial disturbance of October and November.

ATTORNEY JOHN E. COLLINS ARRESTED AND ASSAULTED UNJUSTLY — A CASE FOR THE TRIAL BOARD.

Attorney John E. Collins, of the local bar, who was unjustly assaulted and placed under arrest Saturday, March 28, made the following statement to a representative of The Bee Tuesday morning:

On Saturday, March 28, at about 8:05 p.m. I boarded an east-bound car of the Washington Railway and Electric Co., being a car on the Metropolitan Line. At the corner of New Jersey avenue and C street, in front of the old B. & O. Depot, an elderly colored man boarded the same car, which was crowded at the time.

I was on the last seat in the trailer and he stood directly behind me, with one hand on the back of my seat.

The conductor immediately demanded his fare, and, he appearing not to hear, struck him a forcible blow on his hand. He then seized the old man and, jerking him into the car, demanded his fare again. The old man said, "Here's your fare." The conductor took it, saying, as he did so, "You better had paid it." The conductor then went into the front car. When the car had about reached Delaware avenue three or four young white men who were standing on the rear platform of the trailer began to address rude and insulting remarks to the old man.

Among other things they said: "Yo'd better pay your fare, nigger," and "We shot one nigger in the neck last night, and we'll shoot you." The old man's reply was, "Gentlemen, I haven't done anything to you, why do you meddle with me?" "If you want to shoot me, here I am; shoot me." They said, "Oh, shut up, nigger."

This continued until the car reached Second and East Capitol streets, when the conductor, hearing the noise, came into the trailer and grabbed the old man and began to jerk and throw him about in the car. I had rang the bell after passing Second street, as I intended to get off at Third street to pay a call. But the car did not stop at Third street, going on toward Fourth. After the car had passed my corner I told the conductor that the old had not caused the trouble, and attempted to tell him who had. He at once turned toward me and demanded what had I to do with it, ordering me to leave the car. I told him that I had done nothing, and preferred to go on to the barn. He rang the distress bell, and some officers ran up, among them Sergeant Ryan and Officer Totten, of the Fifth Precinct, and Sergeant Walsh, of the Ninth. I knew them and called to Officer Totten, who was in front, and whom I recognized first. I asked him to come on the car so I could explain the trouble to him. Meanwhile the car had stopped on the west side of Fourth street.

The conductor grabbed me and tried to force me off the car. I made every possible effort to explain the situation to Sergeant Ryan and Officer Totten and one other officer, whose name I do not know, although I know him by sight. They would not hear me, but seized me and forced me off, against the protest of several citizens, white and colored.

I asked to be allowed to get the names of some witnesses, as several gentlemen offered me their names and addresses. This the officers refused to do. I am now engaged in an effort to locate the persons who saw the affair.

I did not resist arrest, nor attempt to fight the conductor or anyone else.

THE COMING ELECTION.
The coming election of delegates to the National Republican Convention seems to lack that enthusiasm that used to characterize the election of delegates years ago. The selfishness, trickery and demagogery that have existed seemed to put many of the ambitious out of the running. There should be honesty in politics as well as in other things.

Some men allow their ambition to run away with their better judgment and sooner or later they meet an untimely political death.

The ambitious demagogue who has been playing hot and cold will soon realize that there is honesty in politics.

The Bee has been honest in its advocacy of men and measures. Its record is clean, hence it has nothing to regret.

There are two tickets in the field at present. Which will receive the support of the people? Which ought to receive the people's support?

The people must decide.

LAWS RELATING TO WOMAN AND CHILD LABOR AND TO FACTORY INSPECTION.

Bulletin No. 73, of the Bureau of Labor, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, just issued, gives in full the text of the laws which had been enacted up to the end of 1907 for the purpose of regulating the employment of women and children. Another article presents the laws relating to factory inspection and the health and safety of employees. These laws are annotated with brief references to such decisions of the courts as have been rendered in regard to the provisions of these laws during the short period they have been in effect.

The two classes of laws contained in this bulletin are closely related, the increased employment of women and children in recent years having led to the enactment into law of many special provisions designed to safeguard the health and safety of employees. Both subjects are among those most often before the Legislatures of the various States, and Legislative action from year to year gives evidence of the increasing demand on the part of the public for improved conditions in factory employment, especially as regards women and children.

All of the States and Territories have at various times enacted laws regulating the employment of women and children, and, during 1907, twenty-eight of them added to or modified their laws relating to this subject.

Factory inspection and the health and safety of employees have been the subject of Legislative action in thirty-nine of the States and Territories. These include all those States in which manufacturing or mining employs any considerable number of persons. New laws touching this subject were put upon the statute books in fourteen States during the Legislative session of 1907.

ANOTHER UNITED STATES ATTORNEY.

Mr. S. Laing Williams, of Chicago, Illinois, through President Roosevelt, has been appointed assistant United States Attorney at Chicago. This is the third colored man to be appointed assistant United States Attorney: Lewis in Boston, Mass.; Cobb, in this city, and Williams in Chicago.

There are several more appointments to come.

FATHER OF OIL KING

NEW TALE OF DUAL LIFE OF ROCKEFELLER PERE.

Chicagoan, with Dr. William Livingston for Twelve Years, Says Man Admitted He Was Parent of Famous John D.

New York.—Many additional facts about the dual life led by Dr. William Avery Rockefeller, father of John D. Rockefeller, are supplied by Dr. Charles H. Johnston, his assistant and business partner for 12 years. In those years Dr. Rockefeller went under the name of Dr. William Livingston, but to his partner, Dr. Johnston, so the latter declares, he revealed the secret of his life—that he was Rockefeller and that John D. Rockefeller was his son.

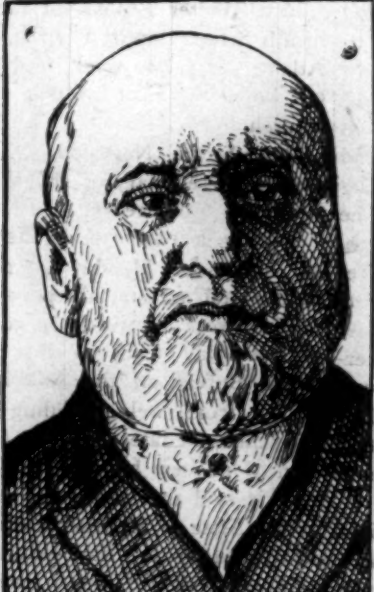

Dr. Johnston is president of the College of Medicine and Surgery in Chicago. He explains:

"It was in 1874 that I paid him $1,000 and became his student and assistant. He was living then in Freeport, Ill., as Dr. William Livingston, and he never posed under any other name thereafter. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Allen Livingston, living yet in Freeport, was one of the sweetest women I ever knew. I did not know until years afterward that he had two wives, one the mother of John D. Rockefeller. She lives in Cleveland, O.

"Dr. Livingston and I traveled over all the west, through Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. It is not true that he sold medicines in the street. He had a fine team of horses, the best that money could buy, and a fine carriage in which we drove from town to town. He would have a string of eight or ten towns at once. He would drive into a town, scatter handbills, in which the great Dr. Livingston asserted that he could cure all diseases, and we would have a suite of rooms at the best hotel, and to the doctor there would come the sick and the halt and the lame. In all cases of common ailments he could detect the cause almost at a glance.

"He made a great deal of money. He often took in $200 in a day, and if he took only $100 he thought it a poor day's business.

"I knew from the first that there was some deep mystery in his life, but it was several years before I suspected that he was Rockefeller, and it was several years more before he acknowledged to me that his name was

William A. Rockefeller and that John D. Rockefeller was his son.

"In all the years I was with him the old man went twice a year to Cleveland and stayed a week or two. He told me he went there to look after his money invested with John D. Rockefeller, and he would tell me wonderful stories of John D.'s shrewdness and great wealth."

Dr. Johnston showed several letters, postmarked Cleveland, O., and signed William Livingston, M. D.

"I first learned positively that Dr. Livingston was Dr. Rockefeller when he was injured on a ranch in North Dakota and thought he was going to die. He and I went to North Dakota together in 1881, and took up adjoining homestead claims where the town of Park River is. We were building a shed for a cattle shelter and in lifting a heavy log he strained himself. He was an old man then, and he thought he had ruptured an intestine. The pain was great and he thought he was dying. I asked him if I should send for his wife, Mrs. Livingston, if he should die, and he said: 'No; notify John D. Rockefeller, but be very careful and let no one else know it.'

"When he got well I told him I knew he was John D. Rockefeller's father. At first he denied it and then he said it was true. He told me that the reason he kept it secret was that he found it necessary in his younger days to assume a name because he was practicing medicine without license. He might be arrested any time and he did not wish to disgrace the name of Rockefeller because of his children. He stuck to the name later, he said, because it was then too late honorably to take his right name."

MADE FROM COTTAGE CHEESE.

Many Savory Compounds That Will Be Greatly Relished.

To make cottage cheese, use elaborated milk that is stiff. Put on the fire and stir until curd has formed. When cooked—do not boil—strain through a colander, after which it will be ready for use.

The following savory dishes may be made with the curd: Cottage cheese breakfast dish—To one pint of the curd add one tablespoonful of butter. Mix well, add salt and pepper to taste, after which add one well-beaten egg. Have skillet piping hot with a little butter melted therein. Turn the curd and stir constantly until the whole has become melted like wax. Serve in a hot dish with toast.

Cottage cheese luncheon dish—Prepare as for breakfast, add a half-cup of grated cream cheese. When well melted pour into a mold and put in ice box. Slice and serve with pie.

Luncheon dish—Mix with the curd a little cream and a dash of salt, add a cupful of Maraschino cherries or a cupful of seeded raisins cut in half with scissors.

Cottage cheese salad—Place some of the curd in a dish, mixing with it a little cream and mayonnaise dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves and wafers.

Cottage cheese sandwiches—Serve the above salad on thin slices of bread, lightly buttered. Serve on lettuce leaves.

The above curd prepared with cream and a little tart jelly added will be found to be delicious as a meat relish.

DRESSING FOR THE SALAD.

Properly to Mix Ingredients is the Whole Secret of Success.

Rub an ice-cold bowl with a piece of garlic. Also rub with the garlic the crusty end of a piece of French bread. Place the bread beneath the leaves of the salad, letting it remain until the dressed salad is served.

Into the cold garlic-rubbed bowl put three-fourths of a tablespoonful of salt, black pepper and Hungarian paprika sifted together. Pour in two full tablespoonfuls of the best olive oil. Mix thoroughly with silver fork or spoon and add one tablespoonful of lemon juice. When the oil and lemon juice are thoroughly blended add a scant tablespoonful of vinegar and stir until the mixture is thoroughly smooth. If an oily dressing is desired omit the vinegar.

Cut the top from a fresh green pepper, place in the bowl and pour the dressing into it. Let the whole stand for five minutes. Drain the dressing from the pepper and pour it over the crisp salad, serve in five minutes or longer. This recipe provides enough for two individual portions of salad.

Indian Curry.

Take 1½ pounds of mutton and after seasoning with pepper and salt cover it with water and simmer until it is tender. Boil one pound of rice separately. After the mutton is tender melt, in another pan, one tablespoonful of butter and one tablespoonful of lard and in this fry one large onion; add and cook for a minute, two level tablespoonfuls of curry powder, then add the broth from the mutton and thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour. Add to this one-fourth cup of shredded coconut and the juice of half a lemon and pour the mixture over the meat. The rice should be garnished with raisins and almonds fried in butter, and if a banana is sliced up and eaten with each portion of the rice and curry it makes a good and wholesome meal.

Sweetbreads with Peas.

Take three pairs of sweetbreads and cut each one into four slices, season with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Fry in porcelain lined frying pan in butter for five or six minutes on each side. Remove and put on hot platter around the edge and cover with the following sauce: Mix together a scant ounce of butter, a half a teaspoon of lemon juice, good pinch of salt and dash of white pepper. Mix together with a fork and spread over the sweetbreads. In the center of the platter arrange a can of French peas which have been heated with butter.

Sweetbread Patties.

Cook a pair of sweetbreads until tender, in a very little water, take out and chop fine, season with salt and pepper. Keep the water in which the sweetbreads were cooked, add to it half a pint of cream, tablespoon of butter and two of flour blended to thicken it. Throw in this dressing the chopped sweetbreads, and just before serving add three hard boiled eggs chopped finely. Have your patty shells heated before filling, or use paper shells.

Simple Ventilating Device.

To ventilate a room having double windows that do not open bore a number of holes in the lower edge of the outer window frame and fit the holes with cork stoppers. The inner windows may then be raised and the corks taken out to admit fresh air.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Prune Jelly.

Soak one-half package pulverized gelatin in one-half cupful cold water. Have 1½ quarts of stoned prunes with juice (hot) sweetened to taste. Pour all together and flavor with lemon. Pour in mold and let harden. Eat with whipped cream.

Apricot Gelatin.

Take half a can of apricots and cut them into halves; make a well-sweetened lemon jelly with only one lemon, mix the two while warm and pour into a ring mold; serve very cold with cream.

FURNITURE FOR THE BEDROOM.

Bobbinet One of the Best of Materials That Can Be Used.

Bobbinet is a material that can be nicely used for a bedroom set. The bedspread and bolster case, dresser cover and wash stand cover and numerous little fancy-work articles can be made with this durable, washable material. Some pretty designs in corner pieces can be worked with very coarse cotton floss. Either white or a color may be used. The bedspread should have a flounce, edged with narrow lace, and the bolster or pillow shams must be lace edged. Place it over a pink silklike cover.

Beautiful bedspreads can be made with lace curtains if four pieces can be found to match and pointed with strips of bobbinet 16 inches wide. One curtain, if doubled, will make a neat bolster cover. The bolster being much neater than pillows, it can be made with muslin and filled with fine shavings. False pillow shams can be made on a light wooden frame, using thin pieces of wood like those placed in the bottom of window curtains. A square of muslin is tacked very tight to one side, then it is lightly padded with shavings or cotton, and a cover drawn over the top, and either glued or tacked in place. These false shams will not weigh over a pound apiece and a bed looks much neater if the lace shams have a substantial backing. These sell for two dollars in the furniture store, but any woman could make a pair at home.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Never beat or stir cereals or rice with a spoon. It makes them pasty. Use a plated or a silver fork.

Cake icing will not crack when cut if a little thick cream is added to it. Allow one teaspoonful to each white of egg.

To prevent hands from getting cold while hanging up clothes, wipe hands dry and rub thoroughly with powdered starch. Milk will immediately and effectively extinguish the flames from gasoline or any form of petroleum, since it forms an emulsion with the oil.

In washing dishcloths, instead of using soap or borax, put a quantity of soda in the water and boil the dishcloths. The grease and soda makes a soap that does its own work.

A good combination for serving in grapefruit glasses or shells is pineapple and grapefruit. Shred both fruits and mix with sherry and a little sugar. Decorate with two or three maraschino cherries and serve very cold.

Brown Cream Candy.

A most delicious cream candy is made by mixing one cup brown sugar, one-half cup water, one pinch of cream of tartar; then placing the mixture on a moderate fire to boil until it makes a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Do not stir the mixture when the sugar is once dissolved. When done, pour on a cold platter and place the platter in cold water; do not scrape the pan. When the plate is cool enough to allow the hand to hold it, it should be removed from the water and beaten with a silver knife or wooden spoon. When creamy and dry it should be taken into the hands and kneaded until smooth; then if should be molded into shapes. Nuts, dates or figs may be used by being kneaded in if desired.

To Clean Walls.

Burlaped or papered walls may be brushed with a new broom covered with a hood of cheesecloth, which must be removed and shaken when dusty. Bread crumbs and a pencil eraser will remove many ugly marks from wall paper. Magnesia often removes grease marks. A weak solution of borax and water will remove the greasy black stains that mar delicate wood or paints. Use kerosene in the water when wiping varnished wood work. No difference how good a furniture polish you use, always rub off every particle of grease with dry cloths, or it will accumulate dust and the dust is more difficult to remove than the grease.

Bacon Fritters.

Cut fresh pork into pieces about half an inch square and fry until done, but not brown. Take one cup flour, one cup southern cornmeal, one teaspoonful salt, a pinch of salt and enough sour milk to make a stiff batter. Beat one egg up stiff and light, mix up batter well and add the cooked pork, stirring just enough to mix well. Fry in skillet and eat with good southern molasses.

Apple Chutney.

Chop and mix together 12 peeled apples, two green peppers, one cup of seeded raisins and one large onion. Into this mixture stir a pint of vinegar, the juice of three lemons, two cups of brown sugar, one tablespoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of ginger. Scald all together, pack into jars and seal.

Harlequin Cake.

One egg beaten light, beat into this one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one-half cup milk, speck of salt, two scant cups flour, two spoons baking powder. Divide into thirds. In one put chocolate, in another vanilla, in the other strawberry. Bake in one sheet in layers. Frost with strawberry frosting.

For the Pastry Cook.

When making apple or any fruit pie always place the quantity of sugar required on lower crust first and you will never have a runover pie. In mince-meat or any meat pie insert a paper chimney or funnel in upper crust, and no more tears will be shed over a leaky pie.

Emergency Dessert.

(The egg could be omitted). One-half pound of cooked and stoned prunes, one pared apple, juice of half a lemon if at hand, one and one-third cups flour, three level teaspoons of baking powder, half a teaspoon salt, quarter cup of butter, one beaten egg, about 1½ cups milk. Put prunes and apple in pudding dish with lemon juice and lots of butter, a little salt, also sugar if needed. Make a moist biscuit dough of the other ingredients. Spread over the prunes, bake about 20 minutes. Serve hot with cream and sugar.

Apple Fritters.

One cup flour, one and one-half level teaspoon baking powder, two level tablespoons sugar, two-thirds cup milk, one egg well beaten, two medium sized apples cut into small, thin slices.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, and sugar, add gradually the milk, then the egg. Beat well and stir in the apple. Drop by spoonfuls into deep, hot fat. Drain on brown paper and serve with maple sirup or a sweet sauce.

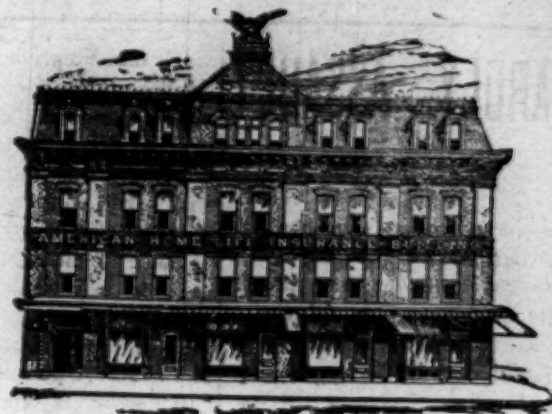

Quick Biscuits.

Into a quart of flour chop a tablespoonful each of butter and cottonseed oil, first sifting the flour twice with a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. When the butter is like a coarse powder, moisten with enough cold milk to enable you to roll out the soft dough. Turn upon a floured board and roll out lightly and cut quickly, handling as little as possible. Bake in a quick oven and serve at once.

INSIGNIA OF RANK

MARKS THAT TELL THE VARIOUS GRADES IN NAVY.

Some Devices Designed by Martha Washington and Other Colonial Dames—History Written into Gold Braid.

Boston.—There are very few men who can distinguish an admiral from lieutenant by the uniforms they wear. There is probably not a single naval demonstration where nine officers out of ten are not confounded by the majority of the spectators.

The same principles underlie the navy insignia as are present in those of the army. There is a picturesque story of the way these came into being. The choosing of the marks of rank in the army and navy, the story which, was left after the revolution to some of the leading ladies of the country. If legend is to be believed, Martha Washington is responsible for some of the devices. The whole world has drawn upon by the resourceful colonial dames for suggestions. The heavenly bodies were appropriately applied upon to contribute devices for the highest ranks. From them came the stars, most coveted by men in the army and navy.

Descending to earth the eagle was availed of as most appropriate after the stars, because of its courage and lofty flight. For lesser ranks, all most honorable and awful notwithstanding, the leaves and fruit of the oak tree, noble in proportions and emblematic of strength, were chosen. The anchor, being distinctive of the navy, was used to indicate it especially.

In all the insignia silver is chosen to rank above the gold, because it usually lies near the surface, and so nearer the heavens.

Anyone versed in the marks of rank in the navy can tell at a glance not only the relative importance of the individual among his fellows, but not infrequently what especial work is assigned to them.

"There comes an admiral," says the friendly tar who has ventured to guide you through the navy yard. For the life of you, what makes him an admiral at a glance you cannot tell. From the dignity of his bearing he might be of any exalted rank. His distinguishing mark on the collar is four silver stars with a gold fouled anchor under each of the outer ones. If he were a rear admiral he would wear two silver stars with a silver fouled anchor between them. The signs of rank are worn on the collar except in full dress, when they appear on the shoulder strap.

The captain who meets one on board the ship has no stars on his collar, but a silver spread eagle in the center with a silver fouled anchor on either side. The officer who wears a silver oak leaf on either side of a silver fouled anchor is a commander. The same device in gold indicates a lieutenant commander. Lieutenants are shown by two silver bars on either side of a silver fouled anchor. If they are of the junior grade they wear one bar instead of two. Ensigns wear only the silver fouled anchor. All the above officers are commissioned officers of the line.

There are in addition aboard a ship the commissioned corps officers, the warrant officers and the petty officers. The same devices that the line officers wear are also worn by the corps officers on their epaulets on the center of their shoulder straps, but the latter wear in addition certain devices to denote their corps department. Officers of the medical corps wear a spread oak leaf in gold, with a silver sprig on it. Officers of the pay corps wear a silver oak spray. If a silver eagle is combined with these devices it indicates respectively, medical director and pay director. The engineer corps has been made one with the line officers so that they no longer have any corps device.

Some of the devices of the petty officers are not very intelligible at first sight, and a single device does service to identify several.

CHELSEA OLD CHURCH.

London Edifice of Many Historic Memories Has Lost Its Pastor.

London.—The death of Rev. R. H. Davies has left the Chelsea Old Church pastorless. Now some zealous young curate will be sought whose eloquence will attract congregations to this almost deserted place of worship.

For 53 years Mr. Davies preached in a little sanctuary, at first to congregations as large as the place would hold, then, as the glories of Chelsea departed and the old families died or went to more fashionable precincts, to a mere handful of people. The Old Church—it has been known thus for centuries—seldom shows any signs of life except when there are services.

It was in this church that Charles Kingsley worshipped, and he and Mr. Davies were close friends. So dearly did Mr. Davies love the old place that he would not allow plaster or white-wash to touch its walls, and the repairs made during his time were only those absolutely necessary to keep it from destruction.

In the nave of the church are kept the chained books. They were once fastened to a desk, but have now been placed on a high shelf with their ancient chains still clinging to them. The books comprise a "Vinegar Bible," Fox's "Book of Martyrs" and a desk prayer book.

The Old Church has seen some magnificent ceremonies, notably the funeral of Lord Bray. It was here, too, that Henry VIII. came in state the day after Anne Boleyn's execution to wed Jane Seymour.

NEW SENATOR FROM KENTUCKY.

Ex-Gov. Bradley Elected, Breaking Long Deadlock.

Frankfort, Ky.—Former Gov. William O'Connell Bradley, Republican, was recently elected United States senator to serve six years from March 4, 1909, when the term of James B. McCreary will expire.

The final ballot was the twenty-ninth taken in an effort to break the deadlock which developed on January 15 between the Beckham and Bradley forces. Bradley's election was accomplished by a number of Democrats going over to him.

Senator-elect Bradley is a native Kentuckian. He was born in 1847 near Lancaster, and has long made his home in Louisville. He has been a power in Republican politics in Kentucky since 1865 when, though he was only 18 years old, he was admitted to the practice of law by a special act of the state legislature. He at once allied himself with the party of Lincoln and won honors from his fellows.

He is the only Republican who was ever elected governor of Kentucky. In 1896 he was endorsed by his state for the presidential nomination, but his claims were not pushed before the convention. In 1895 Mr. Bradley was elected governor of Kentucky, and served one term. The new senator is a civil war veteran, having run away from home in 1862 to join the union army.

Makeup of French Families.

The number of French families, that is to say households with or without children, is estimated at 11,315,000. Of this total 1,804,720 families have no children, 2,966,171 have one child, 2,661,978 have two children, 1,643,425 have three, 987,392 have four, 566,768 have five, 327,241 have six, 182,998 have seven, 94,729 have eight, 44,728 have nine, 20,639 have ten, 8,305 have eleven, 3,508 have twelve, 1,437 have thirteen, 554 have fourteen, 249 have fifteen, 79 have sixteen, 34 have seventeen and finally 45 families have eighteen or more.—Republique Francaise.

TABLE DELICACIES

CULINARY HINTS THAT WILL BE FOUND OF VALUE.

Simple Dessert Just the Thing for an Emergency—Proper Way to Make Pimento Salad—For Custard Dumplings.

A Simple Dessert.—Put crackers in a deep dish, pour enough warm milk over to cover them and when soaked, which will be in about ten minutes, sprinkle with sugar. Cover with cream and garnish with preserved peaches, pears or quinces.

Pimento Salad.—Drain the contents of a small can of red peppers, after drying them in a cloth, slice in rings, cut fine an equal amount of celery, and mix; add one-tenth of tiny balls made from cream cheese, which should be rolled in fine cracker crumbs. Rub the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs to a paste with the oil drained from the peppers. Rub the salad bowl with garlic and put in the salad, over which pour a good French dressing. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Tomato Relish.—Take ripe but firm tomatoes, one for each person, scoop out the heart, and drop into each tomato a raw egg. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, paprika, and just a dash of Worcestershire sauce; next a teaspoonful each of chopped onions, green pepper and bacon or ham. Put into oven and bake until egg is firm. Serve with bread and butter sandwiches or buttered toast. You will find this a most tempting breakfast dish.

Custard Dumplings.—Take six stale buns, grate crust from buns, mix with sugar and cinnamon. Then make a boiled custard, soak buns in custard one hour, then fry in hot lard. When a nice brown roll in the crumbs, sugar and cinnamon. If buns are large cut in two. Sauce.—One pint sweet cider, sweeten to taste, slice of lemon, add a little thickening, boil and pour over buns. Serve warm.

Current Cookies.—Take one cupful of sugar, add one cupful of lard, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one cupful of sour milk, one teaspoonful of salt and a cupful of currants or raisins. Use flour enough to roll and flavor with a little grated nutmeg.

Potato Mayonnaise.—Remove and mash the inside of a small potato, add one teaspoonful each of mustard, salt and powdered sugar, add one tablespoonful of vinegar and rub the mixture through a sieve. Add slowly three-fourths of a cupful of oil and another tablespoonful of vinegar. By the taste one would hardly realize that eggs were not used in the making.

Indian Pudding.—Wet six tablespoonfuls of Indian meal with enough milk to moisten. Add to one cupful of hot milk and cook until it thickens. Add one cupful of molasses, one quart of milk and salt to taste, stir well, pour into buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven three hours.

Indian Rice Pudding.—To two quarts of milk add two tablespoonfuls of uncooked rice, one-half of a cupful of molasses and one-fourth of a cupful of molasses and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Bake in a buttered dish in a slow oven four or five hours, stirring occasionally.

Iceland Moss Cough Candy.

Soak a large handful of the moss over night, then wash repeatedly. Take from the last water, put in a thick porcelain lined saucepan with cold water to cover well and let it simmer over the fire until of a thick, starchy consistency. To every cup of the thickened water add a pound of sugar and cook, stirring constantly, until a little dropped in cold water makes a creamy ball. Take care it does not scorch. Pour into buttered bread tins, so that it does not spread too thin, as it should be about half an inch thick. Cut into squares.

Keep Meringue Cold.

I have found in making desserts with a meringue, where it is more convenient to prepare it the day before or where there has been enough made for two days, that the meringue will keep soft and as fresh as when made if placed in an ice box. Otherwise it will be tough, says a writer in the Chicago Tribune. In case it is a pie the pie may be placed in a hot oven a few minutes—just long enough to heat the crust through a few minutes before serving. This will make the crust as nice and as crisp as when first made, and the meringue will be in good condition.

Cheese Toast with Bacon.

This dish is particularly good when made of Boston brown bread. While the bread is being toasted, melt three level tablespoonfuls of butter; cook in it one level tablespoonful and a half of flour and one-fourth a teaspoonful each of salt and paprika; when frothy stir in three-fourths a cup of rich milk; stir until boiling, then stir in half or three-fourths a cup of grated cheese; continue stirring until the cheese is melted, then pour over the toast. Add a slice of crisp bacon to each slice of toast.

No More Window Rattling.

Clothespins will keep the window from rattling if they be split in two and one piece used as a wedge for each frame. If they are painted white and fitted with a screw-eye in each head they may be hung on a hook by the window and be always ready for service.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Best Way to Melt Butter.

Never melt butter on the stove. Heat your cake dish by filling with hot water, wipe dry, then put in butter; it will then melt.

PROPER CARE OF THE RUG.

Preventive Measures Will Prolong its Life and Usefulness.

There seems to be a popular impression, according to Good Housekeeping, that an oriental rug will wear forever, no matter what sort of treatment it receives, but this is one of those mistakes which are often discovered too late to be rectified. In the east, where they are worn smooth by the gliding of bare feet, their chances for immortality are great, but in America boot-heels are their constant and insidious enemies. However, their lives may be prolonged by skilful attention. If the overcasting on the edge is gone or giving way, a thread of carpet wool or yarn will supply new overcasting and give new resistance. If a warp or weft thread on the back is broken, it should not be left to slip out, taking the knots with it, but should have a linen thread tied to it at one end, be woven over and under as far as the break extends, and then be tied at the other. If knots come out they should be replaced at once with the aid of a coarse, old-fashioned worsted needle. If the selvedge wears crooked, it should be raveled out and overcast, saving the surplus wool for other repairs. All these are valuable preventive measures. A good oriental rug is a work of art, and it should be treated with the reverence which it deserves.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Always serve olives on crushed ice in a pretty dish.

Vinegar improves with keeping and should be bought in quantities.

Lemon juice will bring out the flavor of fish better than anything else can.

If a lump of butter is put into the saucepan while boiling rice there will be no boiling over.

Cauliflower will be much better and richer if it is boiled in half milk and half water instead of all water.

Velveteen makes capital polishing cloths, so save old pieces from dresses for the purpose. It is easily washed in a soap lather.

Nail stains may be removed from wood by scrubbing the wood with a solution of oxalic acid, half a pint of acid to a quart of boiling water.

To wash white silk use lukewarm water and nothing but pure white soap, and from with just a warm iron. It is the yellow soap, too hot water and too hot irons that make the silk turn yellow.

Leather Chairs.

For improving shabby leather chairs take one pint of linseed oil, boil it and let it stand until nearly cold, then stir in half a pint of vinegar. Stir till thoroughly mixed, then bottle for use.

When needed shake the bottle well, pour a very little on a soft flannel cloth, rub thoroughly into the leather, turning the flannel as it gets dirty, then rub with a soft duster till the polish of the leather is restored. This polish softens the leather and prevents it from cracking.

Delicate satin coverings may be cleaned fresh and only the crumb of the soft part used. Rub between the hands until thoroughly crumbled and rub over the satin with swift, smooth strokes, changing the crumbs as soon as they grow discolored.

Beef Roulettes.

Take two pounds of round steak, cut as thin as possible; cut same in strips four inches long and two inches wide; in each strip of beef lay a piece of bacon the length of roulette, a piece of carrot about one inch long, a spring of parsley and a small teaspoonful of finely chopped onion. Season generously with salt and pepper, roll and close with toothpicks. Now melt a piece of butter size of an egg or larger in a pot and brown roulettes nicely. When browned add one cupful of water and cover closely. Keep adding water as it evaporates, and when tender remove from pot and thicken the gravy with flour and water thickening. Pour gravy over roulettes and serve hot with mashed potatoes.

For Weak Throats.

An excellent cure for sore throats is to have the patient eat a fresh pineapple or as much of it as possible. If unable to eat the fruit let the juice be pressed out and given freely. If you live in the country and cannot obtain fresh fruit canned pineapples will do. Another safe and simple remedy is: Take a tobacco pipe, place a live coal in the bowl, drop a little tar upon the coal and let the patient draw smoke into the mouth and discharge it through the nostrils.

Croquettes of Cold Fowl.

Pick off the white meat from cold roast fowls, mince it fine and season it with pepper, salt and a very little pounded mace. Add about three ounces of grated ham, stir all together and bind with the yolk of an egg and a tablespoonful of milk. Roll the mixture into oval balls, brush each one with the yolk of beaten eggs and roll them in bread crumbs. Fry them until brown in butter, and serve with mashed potatoes and gravy.

Sweet Buckwheat Batter.

To keep the batter for buckwheat cakes from souring take out a cupful in the morning before mixing with the soda. After the cakes are made this cup of batter may be put back. Often when baking bread I put a little of the yeast into the pancake batter.

Eggshells.

Eggshells recently crushed in the hands are the best things for cleaning soiled pans in conjunction with soap and water.

SENATOR FROM IOWA

ALLISON CELEBRATES SEVENTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY.

Colleagues in Congress Unite in Extending Congratulations—Was Once Very Near Republican Nomination for Presidency.

Washington.—Senator William Boyd Allison of Iowa recently celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday, and his colleagues, both Republicans and Democrats, united in extending their congratulations, for few members are more popular than the aged Iowan.

Senator Allison has broken all previous records for length of service and attained a maximum degree of personal influence and unusual domination of public affairs. He is the leader of the senate of the United States, with all that this leadership means in power and ability to create and control legislation. It is said, and probably with truth, that there is more of Senator Allison's influence and character written into the statute books to-day than of either President Roosevelt or Speaker Cannon, both of whom are considered to have contributed an unusual share to the lawmaking of the present generation.

Senator Allison's personal history, briefly told, is that he was born in Perry, O., on March 2, 1829, and after attending Western Reserve college studied law and practised in Ohio until 1857, when he removed to Iowa. His entry into national politics came with his election to the Thirty-eighth congress.

On occasions Senator Allison has been very near to the nomination of his party for the presidency, some believe much nearer than Thomas B. Reed, Roscoe Conkling, or even John Sherman. He would have undoubtedly made a good president, the equal of many and the superior of some, had the fortune of politics turned his way.

During the progress of financial legislation in the present congress he has been often consulted and, as the ranking member of the senate committee on finance, has taken a quiet and unostentatious but conservative and helpful part in the framing of legislation which will relieve the country from the conditions which resulted in the panic of 1907.

Senator Allison is the author of the internal revenue law of 1868, the essential features of which are still in force. Prior to its passage the tax on distilled spirits was two dollars a gallon and the revenue therefrom about $14,000,000, while during the first year following the passage of the Allison act the tax, while reduced to 75 cents, amounted, through the elimination of frauds and its proper collection, to $36,000,000.

He was chairman of a special committee which spent the summer of 1874 investigating the government of the District of Columbia. The bill drawn by him as a result of this work repealed existing laws and created the present form of government, with three commissioners appointed by the president.

Early in 1877 a bill was passed by the house of representatives for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. There was great clamor for the enactment of the measure in the senate. The bill was referred to the senate committee on finance and, being aware that if the senate was called upon to divide on the question of free coinage it would follow the popular opinion, Senator Allison proposed the preservation of the gold standard, but at the same time made provision for a limited coinage of silver on government account.

Senator Allison has all his life been a student of tariff problems. He had a considerable part in the framing of the McKinley bill of 1890, and served on the sub-committee which prepared the revision of 1893. He had charge of the minority report on the Wilson bill in 1895, and was also a member of the sub-committee which considered the Dingley act in 1897, also taking charge of the bill on the senate floor.

TO REPRODUCE FAMOUS STATUE.

Replica of Houdoun's Washington Will Be Placed in National Capitol.

Richmond, Va.—The Virginia legislature has just appropriated $10,000 for the purpose of making a replica of the Houdoun statue of Washington, now in the rotunda of the state capitol, in this city, to be presented, along with a statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee, to the national statutory hall, in the capitol of the United States, at Washington. Both statues are to occupy space in the niches reserved for Virginia. The work is to be either a replica or a modified copy, but the state does not obligate itself to take the risk of having a cast made of the Houdoun Statue of Washington.

Houdoun statue. If such a step shall be found to jeopardize the beauty or safety of the precious bit of marble, a modified copy of the work will be made. Experts will be requested to make a careful examination of the figure and make a report on what is best to be done.

The Houdoun statue is said to be the finest piece of art work in the United States. It is supposed to represent the exact lineaments and features of the greatest of all Virginians and Americans. It is said by experts to be a better likeness of Gen. Washington than any photograph. The statue is one of the principal attractions of Richmond. The statue stands alone, surrounded by an iron balustrade. Every care is taken to preserve it intact from the ravages of time. It could not possibly be replaced should any accident happen to it.

Only once has it been taken from its place in all the years that it has stood there. Two years ago certain artists, working under bond, were empowered to take the statue down and clean it. This was the first time that the Father of His Country had his face washed in an hundred years. The statue was then cleaned and renovated and replaced intact. It will now stand for another hundred years.

Constructing the Mecca Railroad.

The Mecca railroad is being constructed rapidly, solidly and methodically. Foreigners are employed in positions of leadership and management. By imperial orders it is now proposed to complete the line from Medina to Mecca, a distance of 280 miles, before the next pilgrimage (i. e., in about a year), also to construct a railroad from Mecca to Mount Arafat, a distance of 11 miles. Mount Arafat and the religious ceremonies annually conducted there, during each pilgrimage, possess such an importance in the eyes of the pilgrims that they all endeavor to reach that mountain of sacrifice. Last year the number of Mecca pilgrims was officially estimated at 280,000.—Consular Reports.

HEFLIN'S RECORD.

The daily press that has so readily given the police record of Lunsby, the colored man who was so cowardly assaulted by the Democratic Congressman from Alabama, Heflin, should not overlook the record of this temperance advocate from the South.

It will be remembered that Heflin asserted that President Roosevelt and Dr. Booker T. Washington ought to be blown up with a bomb.

Now that he is in the clutches of the law for making a deadly assault upon a fleeing Negro, right here at the Nation's Capital, he should be given the fullest extent of the law. Heflin is no more than any other individual, and a great deal less than many who belong to the inferior class, who would never have committed such a dastardly assault.

Because the assaulted man has a police record does not justify an assault of any kind. Then, again, this record was not known to Heflin. Then, again, Heflin is a lawbreaker and not a lawkeeper. Then he is supposed to be a lawkeeper, but in all of his utterances he has demonstrated the fact that he is a lawbreaker. Every human being is entitled to the protection of the law, no matter what his record may be. Heflin's declaration that the judges of the Police Court had given him permission to carry a gun was all subterfuge, and so far as threatening letters having been sent to Heflin, that is another subterfuge for his rash act. If the letters published are of the character of the letters alleged to have been received by him, The Bee is of the opinion that no colored person wrote them, because so far as the colored people in this city are concerned they did not give his alleged "Jim Crow" car bill a thought. The people as well as The Bee knew that no such a bill could pass Congress, hence it is not believed that any colored person wrote him such letters.

Heflin was on his way to church to deliver a temperance lecture, and is it not surprising that he was compelled to get a whiskey man to go on his bond? He was going to condemn the very man who went his surety.

What became of those patriotic friends of Heflin — men of property — that he was forced to get a whiskey man to go his bond? Strange things happen some times.

The Bee does not encourage disorder upon the street cars by anyone, black or white. There is no evidence that Lunsby was disorderly, notwithstanding his alleged police record. All Heflin had to have done was to have called the attention of the conductor to any disorderly conduct that was being committed. But from all the evidence it seems that the conductor saw no violation of the United States or the District laws or police regulations so far as the colored man was concerned.

NOTHING TO DO.

Does it ever occur to the colored people in this city that the Colored Business High School and the Armstrong Manual Training School graduate every year hundreds of boys and girls? Does it ever occur to the colored people that there is nothing for these graduates to do after their graduation? Is it not hard and humiliating to the parents as well as to these graduates to see their daughters rolling a baby carriage, washing dishes, or cleaning up some dirty and filthy room or a house, and their sons driving ash carts or slinging dishes in some hotel or restaurant. What else is there for these graduates to do?

It is indeed humiliating to these young graduates to find themselves loafing in and around some bar-room or elsewhere.

The young colored girl has no inducements offered her, unless it is to be compelled to sacrifice her honor. There is today existing in this city a certain department house in which young colored girls are employed and who are compelled to sacrifice their honor under the threat of being discharged. This information is in possession of The Bee. It is a sad picture.

There are today hundreds of young colored men and women who are graduates of our schools barely existing. What is the Negro pulp doing? What is the so-called well-to-do Negro doing for his sons and daughters? It is a mistaken idea for a father to have that he must cease supporting his daughter after she arrives at the age of twenty-one. The young girl who is out of employment is very often compelled to do that which she would not otherwise do, had it not been for her stingy father.

Some men are pretentious. They will make a big show on the outside and allow their families to suffer at home. The young colored girl has not the same opportunity of earning a livelihood as the young white girl. This talk that Negroes should not patronize white department stores that refuse to employ colored girls as saleswomen is a weak argument to make for the good of the colored race. The Negro must open his own department stores and other business enterprises; then he will not be dependent on the white man.

The colored American should go where he is treated the best and where he will be able to get the worth of his money. The colored American must throw away so much sentiment and get down to practical business.

What are we to do with our boys and girls?

Representative Heflin, failing to have passed a "Jim Crow" street car law for the nation's Capital City, now seeks revenge by shooting down an unarmed Negro. And this brave (?) Southern Congressman fired from ambush, for the Negro was on the outside of the car, unarmed, while Mr. Heflin was on the inside, firing from the car window.

And still Bishop Walters, the agitator, Professor Dubois, the man who never qualifies to vote, and Max Barber, a wandering minstrel without a job, and a few other irresponsible disgruntled, selfish Negroes are advising the Negroes to vote the Democratic ticket, should Mr. Taft be nominated.

When the Democratic party adopts a platform identical in tone with the Republican platform, and when the Democratic party concedes to the race, North and South, all the rights and privileges vouchsafed by the Constitution, and when the Democratic party ceases to be ruled by the Negro-hating, Negro-baiting, white Southern Congressmen, then will The Bee advocate that Negroes may vote the Democratic ticket. Until then we repeat our platform of last week's issue: The Bee is for the Republican party, with or without Taft as the nominee.

BRUCE AND LANGSTON.

In speaking of Negro leadership, perhaps there never were two men more dissimilar than Bruce and Langston.

Blanch K. Bruce was a politician. There were many people who did not know Mr. Bruce. His enemies would under-rate his ability. Bruce was the most astute and far-seeing politician in the Negro race. It is true Mr. Bruce was ambitious and was more inclined to help his enemies than he would his friends. He would have a knowledge of the enmity of those against him, but they could never discover it from his actions. And very often those whom he helped and placed in positions were those who would give him no credit. Those he helped, which numbered over hundreds, when he would be in need of their services he could never command them. His last great fight for the Register of the Treasury found him with only four persons at the seat of war to help him. The man who knocked his enemy out was closer to Mr. Bruce than any other man in public life and received less after his victory.

Langston was a statesman, orator and scholar. He believed in the young man. Mr. Langston was unlike Bruce, or Douglass. Langston believed in the young man, and never lost an opportunity to help them. While Langston had sons and daughters, he never believed in nepotism. While it is true that he would defend the interests of his sons, you would never see him attempting to place them in office.

Bruce had no prejudices. He may have manifested some selfishness and jealousy. He was surrounded by selfish influences which he did not see until it was too late.

Bruce was liberal to a fault. Langston in a political contest would spend his money as freely as water would run down a hill. There was a rivalry between Douglass and Langston, but Langston never would give vent to any feeling that he may have had against Douglass, as Douglass would against Langston.

The cause of this misunderstanding The Bee has never been able to ascertain. If Langston ever made you a promise you could always rely on it. He was never the man to present one's claims behind closed doors. Langston was afraid of no man.

WILL IT BENEFIT HIM?

The next political contest will be the hottest and the most serious that has ever occurred. Some few colored political agitators have declared that they would rather support the Democratic party than any Republican named by the party. Admitting that the Republican Administration and many Republicans have been false to the colored citizens, has the Democratic party or the representatives of that party made sufficient or any inducements to the colored voter to warrant him in supporting that party? Is it not a fact that every act of the Democratic party has been to degrade the colored American? The colored man must either cast his vote against his own party or support Vardaman, Tillman, Thomas Dixon and others in the Democratic party who are inimical to the colored man. Every disfranchising act is the creation of the Democratic party. Every oppressive measure at home or abroad is the creation of the Democratic party. It is true that Mr. Bryan has never uttered one word against the colored American, and it is equally true that he has never said anything in his favor.

The colored American must do something. He must show by his superior ability that he is a man and a citizen. He cannot be an independent because he is depending on the superior race for that which he should be able to do himself. If the colored man goes to the Democratic party, will he be benefited? This is now the question. He must decide between the Democratic party and the nominee of the Republican party, whoever he may be.

It would be unwise for the colored man to adopt the maxim of the belly in a man and the other members of his body in their attempt to starve the stomach.

ROOSEVELT'S TASK.

President Roosevelt is committed to a great task, and the patriotism of the American people is interested in the issue. He wants the national power to be extended to national questions. He wants to curb the provincialism of States and the commercialism of individuals; to keep under control, as much as possible, the tyranny of the ones and the activity of the others. It so happens that suffrage qualification is still within the province of the States, but the day may, and should, come when the people will remove that reserve and transfer it to the National Government for Federal regulation, just as they have done for the boll weevil and the gypsy moth. When that time comes, and come it must, it is stated that we will witness the sublime wisdom of the President's policy.

For prudential reasons it may be well that the colored people of this country should cease to antagonize the President, and, instead, endeavor to cultivate his friendship, just as the weak should seek and cultivate the friendship of the strong. The Bee hopes that this question of suffrage may soon be transferred to the National Government for regulation, and no longer left with the States.

Let us get on good terms with our public men, especially those of the Republican party, and help them think as we do that all parts of the Constitution are sacred, and should be sacredly observed — the parts that are new no less than the parts that are old.

All signs point to the nomination of Secretary Taft on the first ballot. It is no longer a theory, but a condition that confronts us. The sentiment of the members of Congress, as The Bee gleans it, is that it is now impossible to defeat the nomination of Mr. Taft.

WHICH?

The colored voters will very shortly be called to select their choice of principles, parties and men. They must decide between "Jim Crowism," the principles of Vardaman, Tillman, Thomas Dixon and their oppressive measures, which have disfranchised the colored people in this country. With all of its faults, the Republican party has never joined the conspiracy to eliminate the colored voter from the body politic and it has never given aid and comfort to Heflin of Alabama.

Of course the colored man must do something. He must demonstrate to the world, notwithstanding the oppressive laws, he is able to withstand them.

The principles of Vardaman, Dixon, Heflin and others mean that colored Americans have no rights which they must respect. The colored Americans have had enough to cause them to change their politics, but where are they to go is the burning question. Will the colored voter go to the party that has offered no consideration whatever? Must the colored Americans throw aside their pride and dumb their conscience, intoxicate their memory, and forget everything that made nations powerful and men great? Must he treat with those who carry in their hands the dagger of vengeance? Certainly the colored Americans will choose between that which is right and that which is wrong. The question is, Which?

BRYAN AND THE NEGRO VOTE.

If there had been an inclination on the part of some Negroes to vote for Bryan, who will undoubtedly be the Democratic presidential nominee, that inclination must now appear revolting, after the treatment of Negroes in Charleston, W. Va., on Sunday evening, March 22. William Jennings Bryan, the "peerless leader," spoke in Charleston, his subject being "The Prince of Peace." In direct opposition, however, to his subject, policemen (white) were stationed at the entrance of the Opera House to prevent Negroes from gaining admission, the usages going out that "the Democrats do not want the niggers."

Now in Charleston, W. Va., there is domiciled the very type of Negroes. They are law-abiding, industrious, and as an evidence of their industry some of the finest homes in that city, and one of the handsomest and largest of that city's business blocks are the property of Negroes. To deny the Negroes of Charleston an opportunity to hear William Jennings Bryan is a clear announcement that Mr. Bryan neither seeks nor desires Negro support. In view of this The Bee cannot figure out how any Negro can consistently support Mr. Bryan or the National Democratic party. One thing is certain: The Bee will not support him, no matter who the Republicans nominate.

NEGRO APOLOGISTS.

Big Crowd at Academy to Encourage Removal to Richmond, Va.

Giles Jackson presided over the mass meeting in the Academy of Music last night and put the crowded house into fine humor by an inimitable opening address. The orchestra seats were filled with white people, and the galleries with colored.

He said that one of the first things he ever learned was to "stand in" with the "white folks," and that it had stood him in good stead. In his twenty years' practice of law in the city he had made $300,000 by their co-operation, a small amount of which was still in his possession. He said that politics was the root of evil; that in reconstruction times he dared not address a white audience, and that incidentally he walked and had no soles on his shoes, but that now since politics had been eliminated he wears good shoes and rides in a buggy.

D. Webster Davis, in the midst of a fine piece of oratory, exclaimed: "I want to say to you that nothing is further from the minds of the sensible Negro men and women than this pipe dream of social equality. They could no more conceive of it than they could of damming James River with a spade, or pulling up the Rocky Mountains with a bob-tailed mule."

Continuing, the speaker said that the colored people had long since come to the conclusion that nothing could be accomplished by the race without the aid and sanction of the white people.

Conditions, he reminded the members of his race, may be different in the North, but a Negro is just as black in Boston as he is in Virginia. In closing his speech he made a strong appeal for the aid of the white people in the efforts to bring to Richmond the building and exhibit made by the Negroes at the Jamestown Exposition.

Subscription cards were passed, and liberal contributions were taken.

—Richmond News.

"You can't get something for nothing," said the man of severe principles.

"I have my doubts about that," answered Farmer Cornstassel. "I've got nothin' fur somethin' in several trades, an' I can't see, but what it worked the other way 'round fur the other feller."—Washington Star.

FORAKER'S CONSOLATION.

From the Cleveland Plaindealer.

Not a few newspapers, independent and Republican, are congratulating Senator Foraker on his defeat in the State of Ohio. The country is beginning to recognize what Ohio has known for some time — that the Taft managers, for the sake of a clamorous Taft endorsement, betrayed the Republican party of the State into the hands of the bosses. The United States sees William H. Taft, the man whose speech at Akron in denunciation of George B. Cox contributed materially to the election of a Democratic governor of Ohio, in the attitude of accepting his Ohio O. K. from the hands of this same Cox, rehabilitated through the connivance or active aid of the Taft managers.

Foraker, who never achieved the reputation of not being a politician, who never worked for such a reputation, stands at present in a better light than does Taft. He had nothing to do with the Taft-Vorces-Cox-Brown-Guilbert convention — was practically repudiated by it, in fact. Should disaster come, as seems likely if the Ohio Democrats nominate a worthy ticket, Mr. Foraker will have much cause for satisfaction.

The Washington Herald comments at length upon this situation. It believes that the defeat of the Republican ticket, predicted by many Ohio Republican newspapers, is by no means impossible. Even in a presidential year Ohio can be carried against Cox and Brown if the Democrats are brought to see the necessity of throwing off their own bosses and becoming the champions of independence rather than of petty partisanship.

A BIRTHDAY SUPPER AT HOWARD.

Last Friday evening Miner Hall, for the first time in its history, witnessed a formal affair. The occasion was a supper given by some of the young ladies in honor of Miss Ardella Smith's eighteenth birthday anniversary. Young men in evening dress presented themselves at the door and were ushered into the two parlors in the annex.

There they, sweetly welcomed by Miss Smith, were passed down a line of young ladies dressed in the delicate and dazzling gowns which fashion demands on such occasions.

After most of the young men had arrived partners were selected and many sat down to games. Dancing was not allowed.

At ten o'clock supper was announced. Eighteen young men with their fair partners, led by the young hostess and her partner, marched downstairs to the dining hall. The dining room was richly decorated with palms and flowers. The supper served was the acme of the caterer's art.

Miss Jacobs sat at one end of the long, beautifully decorated table; Miss Messer at the other. In the center of the table in front of the hostess was a large cake supporting eighteen candles.

After supper had been served the candles were lighted and the electric lights turned off. In the semi-gloom complimentary and congratulatory speeches were made by Misses Jacobs, Slone, Kilbreth and Virginia Williams; also by Messrs. Harvey, Fleming, Cooke, Childs and Beamond.

ITS THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Surging masses of humanity were wending their way to the Second Baptist Church, Sunday, March 2, at 3:30 p.m., until the seating capacity of the Sunday School room was almost at a premium, the occasion being the thirtieth anniversary of the Baptist Sunday School Union.

The president, Perri W. Frisby, rendered the invocation, after songs by the Second Baptist Sunday School Choir. Dr. W. Bishop Johnson, D. D., LL.D., made the address of welcome, in which he portrayed the history of the Union, and enumerated many of its vicissitudes, and admonished the delegates and friends to stick to the old ship and success would continue. The president then introduced Mr. W. Calvin Chase, who responded to the address of welcome.

The speaker's familiarity with the workings and doings of the Union since its organization astounded the delegates, in that he possessed information that many of the regular attendants did not have. He knew personally those who aided and abetted to disrupt the Union in the past and present, and the devices resorted to to bankrupt and destroy the continuity of the institution, and could have called the names of the pastors and others who have failed to do their duty, and promises in the near future to publish in the organ of the Union the demagogues.

Mrs. M. E. Wanser, of the N. E. Baptist Sunday School, read a paper; subject, "False Pretenders in Churches," which evidenced much care in the preparation. Music was then rendered by the choir of the N. E. Baptist Sunday School.

The president then introduced Mr. Armond W. Scott, who said in part that he was impressed with the institution because of its tenets as set forth in its constitution, and that this thing of certain people wanting to either rule or ruin is as common in the Church as out of it, and certain grafters and would-be ministers, instead of encouraging union in Christian work are impediments to sinners and are hypocrites in the Christian Church. That the ministry, above all, should aid in maintaining peace and harmony in the Sunday Schools and in the Sunday School Union, and if then you disagree they, as older and with experience as Christian fathers, should agree with neither side, but act the part of Christians and bring their children together, that peace and harmony might abide.

The assemblage was then given a treat that will long be remembered by the musical lovers of this city. Madame E. P. Prioleau, soprano soloist, sang the "Heavenly Song" and "The Endless Day," accompanied on the piano by Prof. J. Cleveland Lomax. Madame Prioleau's voice was in excellent condition, and after her rendition she was the recipient of many congratulations.

Visiting delegates were introduced, and the meeting adjourned to meet in April.

ODD FELLOWS.

Zion Church, D street between Second and Third streets southwest, on Sunday night, April 12th, the occasion being the fortieth anniversary of Bloom of Youth Lodge, No. 1368, G. U. O. of O. F.

The Lodge will be accompanied by the Silver Queen Household of Ruth, who are the daughters of the Bloom of Youth Lodge, in part by the John F. Cook and the Excelsior Lodges, also the Executive Committee of the District Grand Lodge, No. 20; the District Household, No. 1, and a large number of members from various Lodges and Households who have been invited.

The sermon will be preached by the Rev. W. A. Ray, D.D., the pastor of said church, who is one of the most able pulpits orators in the A. M. E. Zion connection. The Order will assemble in the basement of the Church at 7 p.m., and the services will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

The Grand Master of the Order in America, Mr. William L. Houston, has been invited, and is expected to be present and will make an address after the sermon.

Mr. Joseph D. Jones will represent the District government, and is the master of ceremonies. Mr. Jones is one of the most prominent Odd Fellows in the District of Columbia, and a young man highly thought of by that organization.

MR. NEWSOM DOUBTS.

Sir: It is exceedingly painful to me to be compelled to run counter to the opinions and wishes of our great leader and defender, Senator Foraker, in the choice of tickets in the local Republican contest for delegates to the Chicago Convention. Day by day the evidence is accumulating to prove that the Flathers-Horner ticket are not true friends of Senator Foraker, but are Taft sympathizers in disguise. Senator Foraker has been misled by someone; he is wrong in his opinion, the ante-election letters and pledges to the Senator to the contrary notwithstanding.

If they are sincere friends and sympathizers of Senator Foraker and what he represents, what mean these frequent conferences at the Hitchcock headquarters which have been observed of late?

The stakes are too great to run any risks of losing at this late hour. We have won too much already, under the masterful leadership of the Ohio Senator, to take any chances of losing much of the ground gained, and I for one shall cast my vote and influence for the Burt-Patterson ticket.

SERVE THESE Dainty DISHES TO GUESTS.

Bouillon, Chicken in Two Styles, Cheese and Nut Sandwiches, Orange and Date Salad Fit-tingly Wind Up Affair.

Bouillon.—Two pounds of beef, one pound of bones, two quarts of cold water, one tablespoonful of salt, four whole pepper-corns, four cloves. Wash the meat and bones and add the water, season and let simmer for two or three hours. Boil down to one quart, strain and let it cool. Then remove the fat that has arisen, heat again and it is ready to serve.

Creamed Oysters.—Melt two table-spoonfuls of butter in a saucepan and add to it two heaping spoonfuls of flour, cook for a few moments and stir in gradually two cupfuls of milk which has been heated. Wash and pick over carefully one quart of oysters, boil them in their own liquor, then drain and add to the cream. Salt and pepper to taste. If necessary to thicken, add a little oyster juice. Two tablespoonfuls of sherry will also give a nice flavor to this dish.

Creamed Chicken.—One pint of chicken meat, already cooked, one-half cupful of cream, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour and a little chopped parsley. Melt the flour and butter, pour in the cream slowly and work until smooth. Stir in the chicken meat and parsley, which have been chopped in medium pieces, and cook for five or ten minutes. This can be served on toast.

Cheese and Nut Sandwiches.—Chop the meats of 25 hickory nuts, almonds or any nut on hand. Add them to a cream cheese and a dozen olives chopped fine. Spread on thin slices of white bread.

Mixed Sandwiches.—Cut fine one cupful of any cold meat, such as turkey, chicken or veal, one cupful of nut meats chopped finely, one box of sardines, four small cucumber pickles chopped fine. Add plenty of lemon juice and mix well. Spread on lettuce leaves between white bread. This sandwich is also delicious with mayonnaise dressing.

Peanut Sandwich.—Chop the meats fine, or put through a coffee mill, salt to taste, and add a little sherry or port wine to make a thick paste. This is much better than the peanut butter which can be purchased already prepared.

Orange and Date Salad.—Remove the pulp and inner skin from six oranges and one grape fruit and break them into small pieces. Mix this with one pound of dates that have been stoned and cut into fine strips, and a half cupful of nut meats chopped rather fine. Serve on lettuce leaves with the following dressing: The yolks of two eggs beaten light, and add half a cupful of powdered sugar and one cupful of sherry or port. If wine is not liked, use a cupful of orange juice with a tablespoonful of lemon juice in it.

Sweetbread Cutlets.

One pair of sweetbreads, chopped fine with a silver knife. Boil a teaspoon of sweet milk. Rub together a table-spoon of butter and two of flour, add to the milk, let it boil until thick, then beat in the yolks of two eggs and let it cool. Add the chopped sweetbreads, a half dozen chopped mushrooms, salt, pepper and turn all in a dish to cool. Now form into cakes or cutlets, dip in egg and bread crumbs and fry as you would croquettes. A porcelain kettle should be used always for sweetbreads.

English Walnut Pudding.

Yolks three eggs, one-half cup sugar, one and one-fourth cups fine bread crumbs, whites three eggs, one-half cup English walnut meats. Beat the egg yolks until very light; then add gradually the sugar, beating it in. Add the crumbs, and fold in the egg whites, beaten stiff, then the nut meats. Bake in two layers in a very moderate oven for 30 minutes. When cold spread whipped cream, sweetened and flavored, between and on top.

English Apple Tart.

Peel and core tart apples, put into a large saucepan, cover with boiling water, stew gently until the apples are tender but unbroken. Line the edges of a deep pie tin with crust, then fill the center of the dish with apples, dropping into the center of each a spoonful of orange marmalade. Cover the top of the dish with strips of pastry arranged lattice fashion and bake quickly until brown. Serve hot.

Corned Beef Hash.

To two cupfuls of chopped cold corned beef add two cupfuls of chopped cold boiled potatoes. Heat three table-spoonfuls of bacon fat in a frying pan and add the meat and potato, add pepper and salt, if necessary, and moisten with water. Cook slowly until a nice brown underneath. Roll from the pan on to a hot platter. Garnish with parsley and serve with pickled beets.

Thread Needles on Spool.

A great deal of time is saved and work lightened when doing basting if several needles are threaded in succession on a spool of cotton. Break the thread the desired length and knot, beginning with the last needle threaded, until all are ready to use.

Cream Candy.

One pound of sugar, half pint of water, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Boil until crisp, then pour it in a flat greased dish and when slightly cool pull it.

HINTS ON CANNING

REMEMBER THESE WHEN PUTTING UP FRUIT.

Nothing But the Best Materials Should Be Used If Good Results Are Expected—Never Attempt to Hurry Work.

1. Don't make a mistake and wait until the special fruit in season is nearly over and then pay the highest prices for it.
2. Don't think overripe, soft fruit makes good preserves or jellies.
3. Don't ever use anything but the best materials for good results.
4. Don't use what is called "A" or "soft" white sugar or brown; use granulated white sugar for preserves and jellies.
5. Don't use granulated sugar for spiced fruit; use light brown only.
6. Don't make spiced fruit too sweet; four pounds of light brown sugar to seven pounds of fruit is a good proportion.
7. Don't use an overabundance of spices—too much makes it taste bitter.
8. Don't cover preserves or jellies while cooking—they are apt to boil over.
9. Don't use cold sugar for jellies; measure the strained fruit juice; to each pint allow one pound of the best granulated sugar, put it on a platter in a warm oven to heat, and add it to the boiling liquid.
10. Don't use jars or glasses for preserves that have been used for pickles.
11. Don't put hot preserves in cold glasses or jars and not expect accidents; have the glasses or jars in scalding water, rinse well, then fill as

12. Don't allow preserves to stand about after they are cold; put melted paraffin on, cover with lids, wash off every trace of stickiness and put in a cool, dark, dry place for future use.

13. Don't expect to make good preserves "hit or miss;" they require great care combined with the best materials and exact measurements to insure success.

14. Don't allow preserves to cook over a hot fire and not expect them to stick and scorch.

15. Don't let them cook without stirring, even when the fire is slow.

16. Don't cook preserves on a gas range without an asbestos mat.

17. Don't cook preserves in an old kettle which is used for other purposes.

18. Don't use a thin agate saucepan; an old-fashioned porcelain iron preserving kettle is best.

19. Don't use the old-time "bell metal" brass preserving kettles unless they are cleaned and polished as our grandmothers did them, otherwise they are dangerous articles.

20. Don't leave the preserving, jelly-making or canning to servants; they will not take the time and trouble that you would to have them right.

21. Don't think you can hurry preserves; it is out of the question to do so and yet have them perfect.

22. Don't forget to rub the bottom of the preserving kettle freely with olive oil to prevent sticking.

23. Don't pare peaches, pears, pineapples, or even apples with a steel knife—it darkens the fruit. Use a silver knife.

24. Don't neglect to drop apples, pears, peaches and all light-colored fruit into a bowl of cold water as you do them to prevent discoloration before cooking.

CALLED KING OF SOUPS.

Beef Bone and Vegetables Make an Ideal Combination.

After thoroughly washing in tepid water a 15-cent beef shank soup bone, place it in an eight-quart kettle and cover with cold water, and when slowly boiling remove all scum. Add a cup of cold water, which will cause more scum to arise, and when clear cover closely and allow to boil slowly two hours, adding water occasionally. Then add salt to taste, a large onion cut in two, two large carrots cut lengthwise in about six pieces each, and a large cupful of best tomatoes—use the tomatoes as they come from the can, the thick part as well as the juice—and boil the whole until the carrots are well done, when add a half teaspoonful of celery salt, and boil a few minutes longer, then strain and serve hot. A strip or two of the carrot can be served in each bowl if desired, they being palatable so cooked and great complexion beautifiers. This soup will be found most excellent for a weak stomach, or found most excellent for anyone recovering from sick headache.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES FOR TWO.

By Leaving a Starter, They Can Be Kept Going for Several Weeks.

One quart lukewarm water, one tablespoonful cornmeal, one teaspoonful sugar, one-half cake of compressed yeast, one cupful buckwheat flour, one cupful white flour; let rise over night; in morning add one teaspoonful salt. Leave two-thirds cupful of batter for starter, and put in cool place until following night, when you repeat as before, with the exception of the yeast (which you do not need again), and the sugar. The second morning turn out the batter you want to use in another dish and add the salt and sugar and a pinch of soda. If any of this batter is left do not put back with the starter, as it is not good to keep after the soda is in it.

By leaving a starter each time and doing as directed, these cakes can be kept going for several weeks, but be sure and not put in salt until just before baking, and they will always be light.

This recipe is sufficient for two people.

Chocolate Pie. Bake a crust the same as for a coconut pie, then fill with this mixture: Put one cup of milk with a pinch of salt and a square and a half of grated chocolate into the double boiler. When hot stir in two level

MR. EDWARDS HONORED.
The Retiring Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Presented With a Beautiful Silver Service as a Token of Esteem by Colored Employees—
Mr. Pitts' Fine Address

One of the most popular officials ever connected with the Treasury Department was Mr. J. H. Edwards, who resigned the post of assistant secretary of that great department last week to accept a responsible work in the world of finance and business in New York city. In testimony of the esteem in which he is held by the colored clerks, messengers and laborers of the Treasury Department, a hundred or more of them assembled at Mr. Edwards' residence on the 17th inst. and presented him with a beautiful and handsomely engraved silver service. The name of each donor, neatly engraved on parchment, with a beautifully worded inscription testifying their confidence and esteem, accompanied the magnificent gift.

In a highly engaging manner and in most felicitous terms, Mr. George W. Pitts, clerk to the Hon. George B. Cortelyou, Secretary of the Treasury, crowned the occasion with a fitting climax when he stepped forward and delivered the presentation speech. It was an oratorical effort of rare brilliance and its illuminating sentiment earned for him an enviable reputation as an accomplished eulogist. Mr. Pitts said in part:

Dear Mr. Edwards: My associates in this department have selected me to represent them in presenting you this silver service. We give it to you as a token of our love and admiration. We beg of you to accept it as a small evidence of our esteem and appreciation of your uniform courtesy to us all, and also as a token of our undying friendship to you. May you, in your coming years, be lavishly endowed with the blessing that "maketh rich and addeth no sorrow. May all your ways be pleasantness and all your paths be flowery paths of peace."

Let me assure you that you shall always carry with you the best wishes of the donors of this service, whose names are hereon inscribed, and we hope that in using this service you will often be reminded of the old department days.

We feel satisfied that your official life has been well rounded in its usefulness, and beautiful in its simplicity and devotion to duty. Mr. Edwards, God bless you! We all wish you an abundance of health, wealth and happiness in your long journey through life; and remember that "To live in the hearts we leave behind is not to die!"

To the colored employees intimately identified with him in the Treasury Mr. Edwards has been regarded as a truly "Good Samaritan," and they will never forget the helping hand he has so often and so generously extended to them. The far-reaching one, and seldom, if ever, has any official under the Government taken his leave amid so many striking demonstrations of sincere regret. It was truly fitting that there should have been given this substantial token of their affection, and Mr. Pitts cannot be praised too highly for his thoughtfulness in promoting the plan to allow their ex-chieftain to know that his co-laborers were not lacking in the gratitude that all should feel toward a benefactor unto the manor born.

OPPORTUNITY For Young Men

There is a growing demand for lucrative salaries in all sections of the country, and especially in the South, for young men trained in agriculture. his son, Mr. B. R. Pinchback, 517 Florida avenue northwest. The Governor has just returned from a visit to Tuskegee Institute, and is enthusiastic in praise of the wonderful work that is being done at that be-hive of industry by Dr. Booker T. Washington and his sturdy helpers.

Justice Robert H. Terrell was one of the speakers at a platform meeting last Sunday night at the Nineteenth Street Baptist Church in the interest of home and foreign missionary work.

It has been made plain by President Roosevelt that Congressman J. Tom Heflin, who figured in a disgraceful row with an unoffending colored man on a street car a few nights ago, can expect no favors at the White House.

Mr. W. H. Fossett, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is visiting friends in the city. — The Washington Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which has been in session for several days at Baltimore, adjourned Tuesday. Rev. M. W. Clair returns to Asbury Church; Rev. Alexander Dennis to Ebenezer; Rev. B. T. Perkins to Mt. Zion, and Rev. E. S. Williams is presiding elder of the Washington District. There are six presiding elder districts in the Conference, with a total membership of 30,868; 332 churches; 351 Sunday Schools; 2,285 officers and teachers, and 21,768 scholars.

Mrs. Florence Downes Garner, of 1632 O street northwest, is spending a fortnight at Atlantic City, recuperating from a severe indisposition.

Mrs. Lulu Joy Brooks, of W street, is out after a brief illness.

Mrs. Geneva Marevitt, of Brooklyn, New York, has been the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. John Trammell, 2236 Twelfth street northwest. She has been the recipient of much social attention at the hands of the Washington "smart set."

Arrangements have been made for the appearance of Congressman P. P. Campbell, of Kansas, on May 1st at Metropolitan A. M. E. Church, under the direction of Mr. Henry Lassiter. Mr. Campbell will be remembered gratefully by the race as the man who fought so valiantly against the Heflin "Jim Crow" street car bill when it came before the House a few weeks ago, and who made such a hit last week at the Booker T. Washington meeting.

Mr. William Jenifer, of the Census Office, has returned from quite a lengthy trip through the South, gathering statistics of the colored religious denominations. He found many evidences of thrift among the colored people everywhere, and thinks the A. M. E. Church will elect at least three bishops at the Norfolk Conference, two of whom will be Drs. Lampton and Parks, and that Ira T. Bryant is a sure winner for the Sunday School Union.

Miss Bertie Swann entertained a party of friends Thursday evening at her home, 1427 Pierce Place northwest.

W. Va., that the colored people of that heretofore liberal community were denied the opportunity of hearing William Jennings Bryan's lecture Sunday evening on the "Principle of Peace" at the Burlew Opera House, being turned down on account of color. A cordon of police was stationed at the outer doors to tell Charleston's well-to-do and industrious colored citizens that "No Negroes need apply." This is the treatment the Negro receives at the hands of the agents of the Democratic candidate for the presidency, and to whom certain leaders advise the colored voters to "bolt" in case they cannot dictate the nominee of the Chicago Convention. Most Negroes feel that the meanest Republican is preferable to a Democrat who would deny the black man the right to hear the message of the Master whom we all profess to love and serve.
